Expectations & Considerations

The Children's Think Tank is a space for your child to do independent research with the assistance of their peers, the director and professionals. Their topics will not be judged on content, direction, method or outcome, rather they will be encouraged to dig deeply into topics and questions in a way they see fit. The director will do her best to assist them in the basics of research process, furthering their ideas and finding a proper method to present their ideas in.

The Children's Think Tank is meant to be a special space for your child to feel empowered by their own ideas, to this end, we request that parents do not come into the classroom during our meeting time.

Please try to have your child/children miss no more than 2 meetings. If you will miss a meeting, please inform Heidi prior to missing the meeting.

Please have your child come to meetings with their research pen and any other materials requested of them by the director!
